Mrs Townsend's Pupils of the Week

Corban Else has coped so well this week coming on a different journey to school and being in a new class with new teachers. He has been a lovely friend and a particularly fabulous partner in tennis. I wonder if we have a champion tennis player in our midst.

Caleb Black has been doing long journeys to and from school this week and he's been a super star. He has been helping the new members of Class 7, showing them where to go. Thank you Caleb, for how well you've coped, for great behaviour in class, around school and in assembly.

Allergies

We have children in school who are allergic to nuts, anchovies, coconut, mango and to white fish. We ask that these food items not be brought into school as snacks or in lunch boxes. This is to keep everyone safe.

Tweak of the Week: Safe playground week – sit on the wall, don't walk or run on it. Use the steps to go up onto the field, not the banking. Use the climbing wall but don't go behind it.

Nursery News

It has been lovely to have our 'old' children back at Nursery with us. Ava, Ronnie, Charlie, Harry and Freya had so much to tell us and have played the best games. It's been lots of fun. We have also enjoyed meeting our 'new' children this week and we look forward to finding out lots more about them

This week's praise board

Heber Eady has the same super manners in September that he had all last year.

Charlotte Armitage for being a kind and thoughtful member of Class 1.

Carter Murphy really impressed me on Wednesday morning. He arrived at school and straight away began to help his friends to find their pegs and make sure that they were ok. What a brave, kind and helpful young man.

Alice Marsh for being a super helper at lunchtimes and in the classroom.

Ellis Williams for coming into school with a huge smile on his face and a 'Good morning Miss Palmer' even on his first day!

Joshua Taylor and Oliver Staniforth have been such great friends to Viktor. They have been keeping him company, playing with him and generally making sure he's OK.

Jack Woodhouse for sharing with Mrs Townsend how much he'd enjoyed singing assembly.

Vincent Gibson blew our socks off with some reading this week.

Ivy Jay should already be crowned the Queen of tidying and its only week 1!

Reggie Platts has been such a kind friend to all. He's been super helpful too!

Phoebe Couldwell made Miss. Kane smile lots Thursday morning when she zoomed straight in to the classroom and immediately began to check on her friends. What a lovely young lady.

All of class 6 have blown Miss. Kane, Mr. Barker's and Miss. Spencer's socks off at lunch times! Class 6 lined up beautifully, remembered their manners and sat wonderfully while eating too- a big well done to you all!

Maddie Harwood was so kind and helped her friend to open their snack pot.

Fire – Please take a moment to read our fire evacuation plan. Thank you.

On hearing the bell—a prolonged ring, please leave the school via the evacuation route displayed in each room. If you are in school for any reason please exit via the nearest external door.

Our meeting point is on the playground towards Pot House Lane. If you are with a child please help them back to their class once outside.

The school's admin team will distribute the registers and the Inventory (our signing in system) will be checked to ensure all helpers have evacuated safely.

Boundary wall around school

When collecting your child/ren from school at the end of the day, you are responsible for taking your child off the school site safely. Please don't let your child walk on the internal and external walls due to the risk of injury and falling from height. Thank you.

Tweak of the Week: Safe playground week – sit on the wall, don't walk or run on it. Use the steps to go up onto the field, not the banking. Use the climbing wall but don't go behind it.

What Parents & Carers Need to Know about

LIVE STREAMING

Live streaming involves broadcasting and watching videos online in real time, often on social media or via platforms like YouTube and Twitch. Viewers can interact through comments, chats and reactions during the broadcast: such instant engagement makes this an exciting way to share experiences, learn from others and build digital communities. Despite the many positives, live streaming also creates a potential platform for unsuitable content and poses some risks to children: it's essential to keep privacy and safety in mind and comply with each site or app's age restrictions.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

LACK OF AGE VERIFICATION

Despite their age restrictions, some platforms don't require proof of age at sign up – meaning that anyone can register for an account (and potentially pretend to be older or younger than they actually are). In many cases, this means that young live streamers can never be totally certain exactly who they are broadcasting to and who is engaging with their live stream.

DISCLOSING PERSONAL INFO

A characteristic of live streaming is the ability for videos to be instantly shared worldwide. Without the correct privacy settings enabled, a child could inadvertently reveal personal information or their location, making them vulnerable to online predators or identity theft. It's wise to regularly check the privacy settings (and what data is being shared) on any apps your child has signed up for.

ANYTHING COULD HAPPEN

As the video streams are live, children might encounter (or inadvertently share) inappropriate content. Most live-streaming apps have rules to prevent this and monitor their services, also providing report buttons where content can be flagged for review. It may not be dealt with instantly, however, meaning that your child could be further exposed to harmful content during a live stream.

Age varies by platform

UNAUTHORISED RECORDINGS

Each live streaming platform stores completed videos for different periods (Twitch saves broadcasts for 60 days, for example, while Facebook and YouTube remove them only at the creator's request). Deleting a video, though, doesn't always stop it from being shared: in some cases, streams have been illegally recorded (or screenshots taken) by certain viewers and redistributed on other sites.

ROGUE CONTENT CREATORS

Children can also watch other people's live streams, which could potentially contain anything at any time (such as nudity, drug use or profanity). Most apps claim to monitor live streams and will stop any that don't adhere to their guidelines – but with millions of streams per day, it's complicated to regulate them all, so children could be exposed to inappropriate content without parents knowing.

DANGER OF GROOMING

There are increasing reports of children being coerced into performing "suggestive acts" by strangers on some live-streaming apps. Due to the lack of verification required for certain apps, almost anyone can sign up to these services (including anonymously or under a false identity). It's vital, therefore, to ensure the correct safety measures are in place before your child begins live streaming.

Advice for Parents & Carers

PUT PRIVACY FIRST

Through the streaming app's settings, switch your child's account to 'private', so only their friends and followers can see their broadcasts. You could also turn off the live chat, shielding your child from any upsetting comments – although viewers' feedback is often seen as an integral part of the fun. Identify any nearby items (such as school uniforms or visible landmarks) that could give away your child's location.

MANAGE MULTISTREAMING

Some apps and sites let users stream their content through multiple social media platforms at once. A broadcast on SteamYard, for example, can be shared on YouTube, Twitch, X and Facebook if the accounts are linked. The privacy settings can differ on each of these, so we'd suggest only streaming via one platform at a time to maintain greater control over who's watching your child's videos.

GET INVOLVED YOURSELF

Research suggests a significant number of streams show a child on their own, often in a supposed safe space like their bedroom. If your child wants to live stream, ask if you could be present because you're interested in how it works. You could even set up your own account to gain a more detailed knowledge of what your child talks about in their live streams – and who they're broadcasting to.

TALK ABOUT LIVE STREAMING

Try to start with positives before discussing potential risks. You could ask which live streaming apps your child likes and how they use them. Do they just watch streams or create their own? Explain why it's unwise to reveal personal information while streaming (even to friends). If you feel your child's too young for live streams, explain your reasoning to them and perhaps agree to review this decision in the future.

CONSIDER THEIR ONLINE REPUTATION

As the broadcasts are live, it often causes the misconception among young people that whatever happens in their video simply 'vanishes' once the stream ends. However, videos can stay online indefinitely or be recorded by other users. It's important that your child understands what they do and say in a live stream could potentially damage their online reputation and, quite possibly, be seen by prospective future employers, colleges or universities.
